26th Sunday in Ordinary Time (B)

The Exhortation to the Apostles (1886-1894)
James Tissot (1836-1902)

All of us have met people who do not profess the Christian faith but who, by their way of life, nevertheless put into action the second great commandment, "You shall love your neighbour as yourself" (Matthew 22: 39). I have never forgotten that when my mother died I received great help from a work colleague who would never dream of going to a church except to attend the funeral of someone whom he knew. Jesus instructs his disciples not to pass judgement on those who, while not seeming to be his disciples, are nevertheless working to bring about the kingdom of God. Instead, he warns them to first examine their own actions and thoughts to see if they are truly his disciples. As we pray during the Solemn Intercessions on Good Friday:

"Almighty, ever-living God, grant to those who do not confess Christ that, by walking before you with a sincere heart, they may find the truth, and that we ourselves, being constant in mutual love and striving to understand more fully the mystery of your life, may be made more perfect witnesses to your love in the world Through Christ our Lord."

PRAYING THE PSALMS

A new online prayer campaign has been launched by the Archdiocese of Southwark, encouraging people to make praying the Psalms a part of their daily lives.

Launching the campaign, Archbishop John Wilson said he is often greeted with questions about prayer and while the questions may vary slightly, at their heart people are searching for the purpose of prayer and guidance on how to make it a part of their life.

The beauty and power of the Psalms is that they can provide comfort through the many situations people face in life. Archbishop John explained that when he is suffering, he takes comfort in Psalm 31 and its call for God to be a "rock of refuge for me". This is the very Psalm the Lord Jesus turned to when he said, "into your hands I commend my spirit".

Over the coming weeks and months, the Archdiocese of Southwark will be posting prayer videos across social media using the Psalms in the hope that it will encourage people to make praying the Psalms a regular part of their lives.

Archbishop John encouraged people who are searching about why or how to pray, or "the next time your child or grandchild is curious about prayer" to "turn to the Psalms". Because, he said, "by praying the Psalms, you too can discover the beauty and power of prayer" and "it is in the Psalms you will find the love and mercy of the Lord".

THE NEW LECTIONARY

On 1 December 2024 (the First Sunday of Advent) a new English version of the Lectionary for Mass comes into force in England, Wales and Scotland. The Catholic Truth Society have produced a leaflet, The New Lectionary Explained, which gives a brief introduction about this. Free copies of the leaflet are available in the CTS rack on the table near the entrance to the church.

As a result of these changes, The Jerusalem Mass Sheet we currently use will be replaced by The Catholic Mass Sheet. This will contain all the readings as well as all the responses but will not include the Prefaces or the Eucharistic Prayer. This change will give greater freedom in the choice of Prefaces and of the Eucharistic Prayers.
